GENERAL OFFER OF PRIVACY TERMS

1. Offer of Terms

Contractor offers the same privacy protections found in this DPA between it and [Name of LEA] and which is dated [Enter Date] to any other LEA ("Subscribing LEA") who accepts this General Offer through its signature below. This General Offer shall extend only to privacy protections and Contractor's signature shall not necessarily bind Contractor to other terms, such as price, term, or schedule of services, or to any other provision not addressed in this DPA. The Contractor and the other LEA may also agree to change the data provided by LEA to the Contractor in Exhibit "B" to suit the unique needs of the LEA. The Contractor may withdraw the General Offer in the event of: (1) a material change in the applicable privacy statutes; or (2) a material change in the services and products subject listed in the Originating Service Agreement. Contractor shall notify the Utah State Board of Education (privacy@schools.utah.gov) in the event it withdraws Exhibit E so that the withdrawal may be disseminated to the LEAs.

DESCRIPTION OF SERVICES

CodeCombat is a computer science programming game recommended for grades 4th-12th. It's an engaging way to graduate students from block based introductory programming lessons or introduce students with no prior coding experience to typing out actual text based code in JavaScript and Python. They also learn game development as well as HTML and CSS for web development. This serves as a foundation and bridge to the more abstract lessons they will encounter if they continue to advanced programming. Students move at their own pace and the curriculum doesn't require a facilitator versed in programming or computer science. CodeCombat is also endorsed by the College Board for teaching AP Computer Science Principles.

In short, here's what our coding program offers:

- Real typed Python and JavaScript
- Students create shareable games and web pages
- Scaffolded content and adaptive learning
- Lesson plans and resources for teachers
- Insert detailed description of products and services
