As a leading provider of professional learning, Teaching Channel develops the most current, relevant, and individualized teacher support materials to address local, state, and national trends in education. The Teaching Channel approach to professional learning transcends other PD providers by offering videos, lessons, and observation tools that help teachers feel confident and supported in their efforts to understand and address these trends, ultimately impacting teaching and learning Teaching Channel Video Library.

Teaching Channel recognizes that teacher effectiveness encompasses a wide spectrum of teacher attributes including content-area knowledge, behavior management skills, time management, and the ability to directly contribute to student achievement. Teaching Channel provides a unique approach to strengthening these attributes by building teacher capacity through a video observation platform. Teaching Channel Plus is a platform that allows for self-evaluation, coaching and mentoring, and job-embedded inquiry; giving teachers more useful, individualized professional learning opportunities for growth and refinement of practice.

Teaching Channel Video Library has over 1,400 classroom videos and the library is always growing. The videos were originally funded through grants from foundations and organizations, e.g., Gates, Hewlett, Helmsley, Stuart, Overdeck, Getty, Carnegie Corp of New York, Boeing, NEA/AFT, and NSF. Now, we fund our own videos - and are excited to be back filming. As such, each video has gone through a rigorous review process with content and educational experts.

Roughly 175 plus of our videos are “Uncuts”, meaning minimally edited footage of lessons, without narration, of classrooms that we have filmed.

These full length videos range from 20-120 minutes and provide an opportunity to observe a teacher from start to finish of their lesson.

They can be used for calibration exercises with rubrics to create inter-rater reliability among observers. These lessons also help supplement in-person classroom observations for teachers to unpack and interpret teacher moves.

Teaching Channel Plus Platform

Our award-winning platform was designed to engage teachers in not only seeing others teach, but also to investigate their own practice. To do that, Teaching Channel designed and built an architecture which allows schools, districts, universities, and organizations to have private instances of our platform. Inside these private instances, users upload videos and other content into collegial teams for discourse and feedback. The Teaching Channel Plus Recorder App for iOS and Android and video annotation tools allow for users to dig more deeply into practice and produce the visual evidence they need to have grounded conversations.
